DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

While the structure of the claimed invention is described, it is not clear how the invention operates in the manner asserted by applicant to gain the advantages discussed at page 17 of the specification. Gears 412 and 414 are disclosed as rotating in opposite directions. However, boss 417 appears to be the only feature which engages the driving member 407 of the toy vehicle 10. It is not clear how the gear 412 affects the operation of the toy vehicle, so as to facilitate the turning of the vehicle. Further, the structure of the toy vehicle, in particular the connection between the driving member 407 and the wheels 426 of the toy vehicle 10, is not described in such a way as to make clear how the device operates to drive the left and right wheels at different speeds.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 3712

4. Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The scope of the invention in terms of its operation is unclear, for the reasons discussed above. Also, the claim ends with a semicolon rather than a period, making it unclear whether the claim was inadvertently cut off and whether further limitations were intended to be part of the claimed invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kennedy. Kennedy discloses in Figure 3 and in column 2, line 50 to column 3, line 61 a trailer portion for a toy vehicle comprising a motor 27 and a power source and a gear assembly operatively connected with the motor comprising a first gear 30 and a second gear 31, and a driving gear 29 which drives both gears, wherein the first gear and the second gear move in opposite directions when driven by the driving gear.

Art Unit: 3712

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Perhaps, Gagnon, Auer and Halford disclose various toy vehicle devices comprising motors and gear assemblies.
